

LUCA CALAFATI

Positions

- Freelance social researcher
- PhD Student in Urban Studies (URBEUR Programme) at the University of Milano-Bicocca

Education

- Bachelor Degree in Social Sciences at the University of Pisa (2011)
 - Erasmus: Goethe-Universität Frankfurt am Main, Institut für Soziologie
- Master Degree in Anthropology at the University of Sussex (2013)
- Master Degree in Urban Sociology at the University of Milano-Bicocca (2016)

Internships and Professional Experiences

- International Internship at the Centre for Local Economic Strategies (October-December 2018)
- Strategy consultant for Ri-maflow Cooperative (January-July 2018)
- Assistant researcher in the project 'How Morriston Works' with University of Manchester and Coastal Housing (July 2018-May 2019)

Skills

- Qualitative & quantitative research methods
- Strategic & project management
- Facilitation and public speaking

Languages

- Italian (Native)
- English (Fluent)
- German (Fluent)

Recent publications

- Calafati Luca et al (2019) How an ordinary place works: understanding Morriston, Foundational Economy Website (English).
- Calafati Luca et al (2019) 'Building foundational Britain: from paradigm shift to new political practice?' Renewal - Journal of Social Democracy, Vol 27 Issue 2.

- Calafati Luca and Chiappini Letizia (2018) Towards a sustainable urban future? Opportunities and challenges of new urban economies, Che Fare (Italian).
- Calafati Luca and McInroy Neil (2017) Local government and the commons: the time has come, Centre for Local Economic Strategies (English).
- Calafati Luca (2018) Making maker spaces transformative, Urban@it - Centro Nazionale di Politiche Urbane (Italian).

Recent talks

- 'Introducing the foundational economy' with Prof. Karel Williams
Centre for Socio-economic Innovation, Barcelona Activa
Barcelona, January 2019
- 'How grounded are Italian cities? An analysis of size and composition of the foundational sectors of urban economies in Italy'
The International Conference of Sociology of Urban and Regional Development
Leeds, September 2017
- 'Building the city for all. The new strategies of economic regeneration in Europe'
Workshop The Social Dimension of Urban Regeneration by Emilia-Romagna Region
Bologna, February 2018
- 'New urban economies between innovation and social cohesion'
Giangiacomo Feltrinelli Foundation.
Milan, October 2018

Milano 12/12/2019